Civil Engineer
Ghella S.p.A.

Before knowing ESCP Europe, I was looking for a course that could offer me a broader business knowledge and give me flexibility to study anywhere in the world with internet connection. I spent a long time searching for several courses, until one caught my attention, surprising me with its antiquity. The ESCP Europe is the first business school in the world, and it made me start to think about the quantity and quality of experience and knowledge it has. I may say that the EMIB far exceeded all my expectations. The course is didactic, practical and has great teachings. The teachers have high qualifications and the study material has excellent content. Although the online course is flexible, it requires a lot of discipline and determination from the student, which demonstrates that the course is for those who want to study with quality and explore their ability to acquire new knowledge by themselves.

So far my experience in the EMIB programme is very positive. I decided to join the programme while I'm still working and it allows me to manage my time. The online platform is well designed. The content and the courses are well developed and the professors are available and provide constructive advices.

I have already applied some of the courses in my job and I really like the idea of learning by doing. In a nutshell, I really enjoy it and I am looking forward to the next steps.

The first thing that caught my attention was the reputation of the School, second was the fact that a school like this teaches a Master 100% online. I wanted to study in an international environment and in a recognized school, so ESCP Europe was my choice. I don't regret a thing, I can study anywhere, any time, the teachers are great, the staff is always looking after you and ready to assist you. Although I have found some courses challenging, I am learning a lot thanks to the teaching method they use. So far, my experience with the EMIB has exceeded my expectations.

I decided to join the EMIB program partly because the program seemed to perfectly match my thoughts of what an international business and managerial degree should provide in terms of new competencies, skills and personal development - and - partly since ESCP Europe represents the perfect blend of tradition and progressive learning in one. Now 6 weeks into the program, I can safely say that EMIB program not only met all of my initial hopes and aspirations, but actually exceeded them. The online learning platform developed for the program works really well and so do the exchange and interaction with fellow students and course professors.

Most, if not all, EMIB students have already embarked on a professional journey with full-time jobs to handle while earning a degree, and the learning-by-doing concept mixed with direct relation to real business cases and applicability to current job functions of the students, is a fantastic way to learn and is both motivating and rewarding right away. It will take some time to earn the degree, but I am looking forward to it.

I always wanted to take an Executive Masters to develop my skills further, however, this can be a challenge due to being working full time, family, etc. When I found out about the ESCP Europe EMIB program and researched about the teaching methodology and the accreditations this Business School has, I was greatly surprised. I am in the second semester already and I couldn't be happier. It is extremely easy to coordinate it with other responsibilities, professors are great and very knowledgeable and I find the content very actual and attractive. The platform has no issues and the interface is modern and friendly. Accessing the content is very convenient as sometimes I can take a read through modules when commuting using my tablet. Every time I had an issue the program officers were happy to help. They are simply excellent. Still a long way to go but so far it is very enjoyable. I recommend this program to all those professionals willing to take a step further in their careers but being able to keep a good work-life balance.
